

Dear UNIRI students, professionals and alumni members,

We are pleased to present a short webinar series organised as part of our ALUMNI UNIRI network to connect some of the popular topics in higher education with the experiences of relevant experts both in academia and outside academia. With this series of webinars, the University of Rijeka is marking the European Year of Youth 2022.

We start with the session "Quality assured higher education - is it really so?" on March 17th 2022, from 17:00 to 18:00 CET. The Vice-Rector for Studies, Students and Quality Assurance, Marta Žuvić, Ph.D., will explain to us how quality assurance is practised at the University of Rijeka. Student expert on quality assurance, Liv Teresa Muth, from Ghent University (and former member of the Steering Committee of the European Students' Union Student Expert Pool on Quality Assurance) will present how students and young professionals can contribute to building a quality culture.

Click on the registration link to let us know you will be attending! We welcome you with open doors to our virtual space.

Do not miss this opportunity and keep up to date with our next webinars:

28 April 2022: The future of science is female! Achieving gender equality in research.

26 May 2022: Academic and scientific integrity - the foundations of every scientist's work!

23 June 2022: The Sustainable Development Goals - our future in colour.

If you have any questions about organising the event and participating, please contact us at alumni@uniri.hr.
